Historical Data:

There is very little to be said about this house. We have assumed that it was built about 1825, for in a deed from Caleb Tuttle, who was the father of John O., to John O. Tuttle in 1828 the line is spoken of as running alongside the new house. In Beers' Atlas for 1868 the property is marked Cornelius Brooks; John O. Tuttle sold to him in 1837. It was sold by the executors of Cornelius Brooks to Jephtha W. Tompkins in 1891. His daughter Hannah E. Condict sold to the Small Farms Association in 1937, and in May 1938 the Small Farms Association sold to the present Owner.
